TENURE TRACK FACULTY POSITION
DEPARTMENT OF PHYSIOLOGY AT UCLA
(Neuroscience)

Assistant or Associate Professor

The Department of Physiology at the David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA invites applications for a tenure track faculty position, preferably at the level of Assistant or Associate Professor.

Candidates interested in any aspect of molecular, cellular, computational or systems neuroscience, including the use of nanotechnology, are encouraged to apply. The Department of Physiology at UCLA has a strong tradition of excellence in molecular biophysics, neuroscience, cardiovascular research, and structural biology in a highly collaborative environment. Candidates must have a Ph.D., M.D. or equivalent and are expected to have a strong track record of research achievements and a demonstrated interest in tackling outstanding biological problems using state-of-the-art approaches. The position comes with generous support, excellent start-up funds and outstanding shared resources at UCLA.

The successful candidate will be expected to develop an independently funded and collaborative research program, and actively participate in the teaching mission of the Department for medical, dental, and graduate students.

Interested candidates should apply on line at UC Recruit:
https://recruit.apo.ucla.edu/apply/JPF01245

Diane Papazian, Ph.D.
Search Committee Chair
physio_neuro@mednet.ucla.edu

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: UC Nondiscrimination and Affirmative Action Policy.