“The Cardiac Sodium-Calcium Exchanger: Past, Present, and Future”

A Mini-Symposium in Honor of

Kenneth D. Philipson, Ph.D.
Professor Emeritus and former Chair
Department of Physiology
David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA

Monday March 25, 2013
2:00 pm – 5:30pm
California NanoSystems Institute Auditorium (CNSI)
University of California, Los Angeles

Symposium Schedule

2:00pm Welcome/Introduction
Dr. James Weiss, Professor, Depts of Medicine & Physiology, Division Chief, Cardiology, UCLA

2:00pm Ancient History
Dr. Glenn Langer, Castera Professor Emeritus of Medicine & Physiology, Director Emeritus of the UCLA Cardiovascular Research Laboratory, UCLA

2:15pm Junctional Priming and Coupling Fidelity in Couplons
Dr. John Bridge, Professor of Medicine & Bioengineering, University of Utah

2:30pm The Mouseketeers
Dr. Joshua Goldhaber, Director, Basic Research Programs, Cedars-Sinai Heart Institute

2:45pm The Pearly Gates of NCX1
Dr. Donald Hilgeman, Professor, Dept of Physiology, University of Texas Southwestern Med Ctr

3:00pm Ken and the Art of NaCa-Cycle Maintenance: The Coming NCXistential Crisis
Dr. Larry Hryshko, Professor, Department of Physiology, University of Manitoba

3:15pm From Bombay to UCLA as One of the Trailer Park Boys
Dr. Grant Pierce, Professor, Department of Physiology, University of Manitoba

3:30pm Who is that Guy from the Trailer and What in the World is he Talking About?
Dr. Kenneth Roos, Adjunct Professor, Department of Physiology, UCLA

3:45pm The Four Seasons
Dr. Ernest Wright, Professor, Department of Physiology, UCLA

4:00pm Lessons Learned from My Chair
Dr. Jeff Abramson, Associate Professor, Department of Physiology, UCLA

4:15pm Coffee Break

4:35pm The Cardiac Sodium-Calcium Exchanger: Past, Present & Future
Dr. Kenneth Philipson, Professor Emeritus, Departments of Physiology & Medicine, UCLA

5:25pm Closing Remarks
Dr. James Weiss, Professor, Depts of Medicine & Physiology, Division Chief, Cardiology, UCLA

The program will be followed by an open reception in Dr. Philipson’s honor in the lobby of the CNSI. For information on this event, please contact Debra Moorehead at dmoorehead@mednet.ucla.edu.